Transportation of Dangerous Goods

Developed by the Workers Health & Safety Centre, this course will cover the law that governs the transportation of dangerous goods in Ontario and the regulations that apply.

Understanding the regulations that govern the transportation of dangerous goods is important to workers who are involved in the loading, transporting and off loading of dangerous goods. Targeted at workers who handle and transport dangerous goods, this program alerts workers to the hazards associated with the transportation of dangerous goods and provides information about identifying, assessing and controlling workplace hazards, and the action needed to eliminate or control these hazards.

This course is necessary for film technicians whose job may involve the transporting of dangerous goods, particularly those in Special Effects, Construction, Paint, Labour and Transportation. Please note that this certification expires after 3 years.

If you have taken this training in the past please make sure that your certification is still valid.

If you are interested in taking this course please sign up with NABET reception. If you would like to pay over the phone please have your credit card handy. If you would like to pay in person, you may do so with debit, cash or cheque.
